Address by Governor Goodwin J. Knight

I am submitting a budget which will be financed without new or increased taxes. I will summarize the highlights now. The budget message, which you will find in the budget document, will give detailed information.

Our current financial condition is good. We shall start the year with a substantial surplus, instead of the revenue deficiency we anticipated a year ago. Revenues are much higher than last year's estimates. Economists generally did not forecast the extent of the current business boom. Furthermore, savings have been made by careful fiscal management.

The revenue estimates in this budget for the oncoming fiscal year reflect the present high levels of economic activity, with forecasts of moderate increases based upon careful appraisal of the outlook. As in past years we have had the very valuable assistance of able economists in industry and finance in making these forecasts. Let me remind you, however, that our revenues respond very sensitively to a change in the national and state economy. An increase or decrease of only one percent means a difference of $10,000,000 in General Fund revenues, and our estimates might be at least that much too high or too low. The budget sets aside a substantial reserve for an appropriation for flood damage rehabilitation which I am recommending.

The budget estimates expenditures for 1956-57 at $1,736,112,983, an increase of 8.1 percent over the present year. The increase is largely the unavoidable consequence of the State's continued rapid growth.

The Assembly Committee on Ways and Means and the Senate Committee on Finance have already made a thorough review of the greater part of the budget which deals with departments and institutions of the State Government. I am informed that these committees have found the recommended expenditures to be sound and economical. Generally they have been based upon continuing the present programs with adjustments for growth, as is the policy in budgets for interim budget session years. We cannot stand still, however, in these days of rapid development and advancement, and well justified moderate betterments are recommended for a few departments, primarily Mental Hygiene and Highway Patrol.

The operating expenditures for the University of California and the State Colleges must be greatly increased because of the very heavy increases in students. These costs will continue to mount in future years as the increase in birth rate makes itself felt in the college population.

The budget makes provision for pay increases for state employees as recommended by the State Personnel Board to bring pay for the state service into line with prevailing rates of pay in private industry and other governmental jurisdictions.

Provision is also made for a more adequate emergency fund. The demands of the flood disaster which followed an extraordinarily heavy forest fire season proved that a $1,000,000 fund is too small to cover possible needs with any margin of safety. I recommend an emergency fund of $2,000,000, of which $1,000,000 would be available for the ordinary type of emergency allotments and of which $1,000,000 would be reserved for meeting emergency needs if we should be so unfortunate as to face another disaster.

Aside from these and a few other special situations where extraordinary increases are unavoidable, the proposed expenditures are in line with the State's population growth.

The budget recommends $358,000,000 for capital outlay for substantial progress in the state building program, highway construction, the beach and park program, the 1960 Winter Olympics, wild life conservation, flood control, and the Feather River Project.

The greater part of the state building program is devoted to more teaching facilities for the University of California and the state colleges urgently needed because of the great growth in students. Provision is also made for needed expansion for the Departments of Youth Authority, Corrections, and Mental Hygiene.

The budget of highway construction and improvements as developed by the State Highway Commission proposes outlays amounting to $237,162,456 for 1956-57, which is a slight increase over the present level of expenditures. It is unfortunate that some $11,000,000 which otherwise would be available for this purpose must be devoted to repairing flood damage on our State Highway System. If, however, the Congress approves the President's program for augmented federal aid to the national highway system, we can anticipate a considerable acceleration in meeting deficiencies in this State.

The budget includes a comprehensive program of beach and park acquisition and development formulated by the State Park Commission. The commission and the staff of the Division of Beaches and Parks have worked diligently to develop a well balanced program with due regard to geographic location and to the scenic, historical and recreational values of the state beach and park system. The program will not, of course, fully meet the desires of all groups and of all localities. Questions undoubtedly will be raised both as to projects which have been included and as to others which are not in the program. In my judgment, however, the commission has developed a good program under difficult conditions and I am submitting it to you without change.

The California Olympic Commission has recommended that the initial $1,000,000 appropriation made by the Legislature last year to finance the 1960 Winter Olympics, which will take place in Squaw Valley, be augmented to the extent of $4,000,000, and there has been included in the budget provision for this additional appropriation payable, as was the initial appropriation, from the State Park Fund.

It is my belief that the 1960 Winter Olympics will afford California an opportunity to contribute to international good will and understanding and that this will greatly enhance California's prestige. It will likewise advance this State's place in the field of winter sports, and the upbuilding of this important industry as a part of California's economy.

Two engineering firms employed by the California Olympic Commission have reported that Squaw Valley can be developed into a facility to accommodate the Winter Olympics at an outside cost of $5,000,000 and I am advised that a substantial portion of this money can be recovered out of revenues derived from admissions, television rights and the sale or lease of the physical facilities after the games are concluded. I concur in the recommendation of the California Olympic Commission and urge the appropriation of the necessary funds to assure the success of this internationally important event.

Beach and Park Financing

All of the five-year beach and park program, as well as the 1960 Winter Olympics, can be financed from the accumulated and prospective revenues derived from the beach and park share of the receipts from state lands, primarily from drilling operations in the state tide-lands. In fact, if there should be a marked expansion of tideland drilling operations, with heavy bonus payments as a result of the 1955 leasing legislation, the present formula dedicating 70 percent of these proceeds for beach and park purposes could conceivably provide much more money than prudently could be used for this purpose, and I am recommending that a change in the formula be made so as to continue the amounts for beach and park purposes at approximately the present levels.

Chapter 1422, Statutes of 1945, appropriated $15,000,000 from the General Fund for acquiring additional state parks and state beaches. with the requirement that the amounts paid from state funds be matched on an equal basis. It is now apparent that the rigid matching requirement is no longer desirable; therefore the program proposed in this budget does not require matching, although it should be made clear that donations of funds or properties to augment state outlays for certain state beach and park purposes would still be welcome and would still serve a good purpose in advancing the State Park System, Since matching should no longer be continued as an absolute requirement, and since there are ample funds from the tideland royalties to finance the program, and since the General Fund is hard pressed to meet its obligations, this budget includes a recommendation that the unencumbered amounts remaining in the appropriation made by Chapter 1422 of 1945. estimated at approximately $3,200,000 as of July 1, 1956, be reverted to the General Fund.

Wild Life Conservation Program

The wild life conservation program composed of projects approved by the Wild Life Conservation Board to be financed from the continuing appropriation from the General Fund's share of the horse race license fees and construction projects for the Department of Fish and Game financed from the Fish and Game Fund are continued at substantially the same level as in the current fiscal year.

Flood Control

The budget proposes an appropriation from the General Fund of $2,300,000 for financing the State's share of works scheduled for 1956-57 in the Sacramento River Flood Control Project and the San Joaquin River Flood Control Project. In addition, under local assistance, there is an allocation of $13,340,500 to the flood control districts in Los Angeles, Sonoma, Riverside, San Bernardino and Contra Costa Counties.

Feather River Project

The December floods demonstrated all too forcefully the great urgency for commencing the Feather River Project at the earliest possible moment. This project now has been thoroughly studied and reviewed. It has been found engineeringly and financially feasible by eminently competent authorities both in and outside the state service.

The Water Project Authority at its recent meeting adopted a resolution recommending that we immediately devote $26,832,000 of state funds to begin the Feather River Project and its related San Joaquin Delta Diversion Project. I am in hearty approval with this recommendation and am implementing it in this budget. You will find an item to appropriate $5,160,000 for surveys and construction plans, for acquisition of both the Oroville and San Luis dam sites and for rights of way for the relocation of the state highway and Western Pacific Railroad. These are the initial steps which must be accomplished before any further works can be started.

The adoption of this recommended appropriation will be a commitment by the State of California to proceed without delay with the construction work of relocating the railroad and the highway. It will constitute a further commitment to follow through promptly on the construction of the Oroville Reservoir itself as the next step, involving an outlay of some $400,000,000. It is probable that contracts could not be let for the relocation construction until July of 1957, although there is some possibility under the most favorable conditions of accelerating that date by a few weeks. We will be better informed as to progress when you reconvene next January, and if at that time it appears that construction funds should be made available for letting contracts before the expiration of the fiscal year, I shall recommend the appropriation of the construction money with an urgency clause so as to make it available well within the time for meeting the earliest possible construction dates.

Between now and your next session we should have information as to what funds we can count upon from the Federal Government and be fully prepared to proceed with action toward early completion of the entire project.

Local Assistance

The State's financial aid to the Public School System will amount to $508,034,267 in 1956-57, an increase of more than $32,800,000 over the current year. This continues to be the largest single item of expenditure from general tax sources, it also continues to be the item involving the heaviest increase. Moreover, the projections of school attendance show a continuing rate of growth in this item for many years ahead.

I have already mentioned the heavy outlay for state aid to local flood control districts. The allocation of $13,340,500 for 1956-57 is an increase of almost $9,000,000 over the current year's allotment.

Subventions for social welfare, public health and other purposes are continuing at rates more nearly in line with the general population growth.

Altogether, including both general and special funds, the State's obligations for local assistance will amount to $913,845,918, or 52.6 percent of the total budgeted expenditures.

State Fiscal Outlook

While we may take satisfaction in the fact that our state finances are in a sound current condition, with moderate reserves on which to draw to help finance the budget for the ensuing fiscal year, we must not be lulled into undue complacency as to our future financial problems. You will observe that the proposed expenditures for next fiscal year exceed the revenues of that year by more than $120,000,000 from all funds, that in respect to revenues and expenditures from the General Fund and its related reserve funds, the deficiency is in excess of $104,000,000. Unless we have a substantial further expansion in our economy we still face a day of reckoning when adjustments in either the revenue structure or the basic expenditure program must be made to attain a balanced budget.

Any informed person who makes a realistic appraisal of the State's obligations and expenditure requirements will find little prospect of a substantial reduction in expenditures. Heavy increases in the costs of education are inevitable as our school and college age group continues to increase. To a lesser degree, the outlays for welfare, corrections, and mental hygiene will continue to grow. By one means or another our water development program must be financed and we must be prepared to meet heavy outlays from state funds. As our fiscal problems become more difficult the need for exercising strict economy in controlling expenditures is all the more apparent. I submit that this administration has shown a good record in this regard and point to the fact that expenditures have been held to amounts well below the amounts appropriated.

Sound and prudent fiscal planning and management are most essential to continue a forward-looking State Government serving the needs of a growing population with a maximum contribution to its welfare and a minimum burden upon its economy. I welcome the assistance of all public spirited groups and citizens in formulating our future fiscal plans.

First Extraordinary Session

In addition to the budget duties imposed upon you by the Constitution, there will be placed before you for consideration a number of items in an extraordinary session which I have called to run concurrently with this regular budget session.

Most of the special session proposals which you will have before you relate to inequities or shortcomings in existing statutes, and will require little time or effort. There are, however, emergency subjects of major importance which should not endure another year of delay before being presented to you for your attention.

Requests have been made of me for the inclusion of several hundred items for your consideration at this time. Most of them possess merit, of course, and it is regrettable that all of them cannot be offered to you for study at this time. However, it is not the intention of the people to convert the budget session of the Legislature into a modified general session, so most of the requested items must wait to receive the consideration they merit at the regular session 10 months hence.

You have been informed on details of the special session items through the formal proclamation which I have previously issued. One of them, however, is of paramount importance to the people of California and merits further discussion at this time.

This is the subject of creation of a State Department of Water Resources—the formation of a single and separate agency in the framework of our State Government which will enable the State to chart a course of water conservation and development, and flood control, far into the future.

With most of the divergent views on the subject apparently reconciled, this Legislature possesses the rare opportunity of establishing a blueprint for the future prosperity, health and happiness of all of the people of the State of California, and I urge your sincere and earnest consideration of this vital proposal.

The program for the creation of this single water department represents more than 100 years of experience by previous Legislatures and some of the best minds of California. They have struggled with the complexities of this problem in an effort to resolve it to the general satisfaction of all segments of our population.

For the first time we appear to have reached a point where a water resources program can be planned and executed that will enable us to correct the inequities imposed on us by nature in the distribution of water to all parts of California. We have the opportunity to implement the California water plan with an organizational structure which will be strong enough to bear the weight of the burden placed upon it.

To gain that strength we must first climinate our basic weaknesses. The principal weakness—and it is the one that has plagued our water resources development program for the past century—lies in the great body of California water law that is now administered by a scattered organizational framework imperfectly covered by a patchwork of administrative fabric.

These agencies have functioned with the best interests of the people as their objectives, and their staff members have diligently and faithfully executed the laws, the rules and the regulations entrusted into their care, considering the limitations and difficulties that they have worked under.

But there has been an absence, in some instances, of direct control by the people over some of their functions. There is considerable evidence of a lack of cooperation and coordination among them, as well as needless and costly duplication of effort.

This Legislature will be asked to place all agencies within our State Government, that now, in any form or manner, perform functions associated with the conservation or development of our water resources, or flood control, under one administrative roof within the jurisdiction of the proposed State Department of Water Resources.

I would like to emphasize, at this point, that in making these transfers, the agencies now functioning should not be stripped of their present responsibilities, nor should their personnel be dispersed. They could retain their present agency names, and their entire staffs, so long as they operate under the direction of the new department. In this manner we will achieve the desired objective of having a single department charged with the responsibility of developing our water program, and enable its director to function with the valuable assistance of the experience and training possessed by state employees who have devoted their talents to this phase of governmental operations. In this manner the new department could begin functioning overnight without experiencing a time loss generally associated with reshuffling of responsibilities and shifting of personnel.

California is indebted to all those who, over the years, have devoted so much of their time and effort to solving our water problems. In the plan to create a new water department, several interim and standing committees of the Legislature, notably the Assembly Interim Committee on Government Organization; the Assembly Interim Committee on Conservation, Planning, and Public Works; and the Senate Joint Interim Committee on Water Problems, among others, have advanced formation of the suggested single water agency to the point where most of the divergent views have been reconciled, and where the few remaining points of difference are susceptible of rapid determination by legislative action. The extraordinary session of this Legislature can implement their work by the enactment of workable legislation.

At this special session I have also placed before you a proposal providing for the rehabilitation of public facilities damaged by the recent ravishing floods. All types of public properties, including state, city, county, and other locally-owned facilities have been damaged in varying degree by the recent uncontrolled flood waters in 53 of our 58 counties. These properties include roads and highways, public sanitation facilities, levees, draining systems, bridges, schools and other public buildings.

While the Federal Government, through the Office of Civil Defense and the Army Corps of Engineers, has extended generous aid to the flood-stricken areas, and the State has assisted to the limit of available funds under my jurisdiction, there still remains a large part of the problem of assisting in repair of the damage done by the floods and the task of restoring normal operations.

The California Highway Commission already has allocated more than $11,000,000 for rehabilitation work on state highways in the flooded areas. This allocation includes some $4,000,000 in emergency federal aid for which application has been made, but for which appropriations have not yet been made by the Congress. We will not know for some time the full over-all effect of the winter's flood damage on the state highway program. It is obvious, however, that necessary expenditures for flood damage repairs will mean less funds available for new construction in the future.

In the case of city, county, and other locally owned agencies, many of them are financially unable to take care of the repairs or replacement of their installations damaged or destroyed by flood waters. While this is primarily the responsibility of these political subdivisions I recommend that the Legislature appropriate sufficient funds for grants to them on a matching basis to assist in necessary rehabilitation work. I further recommend that the Legislature authorize loans to any of these agencies that are financially impoverished to take care of as much of their matching contribution as may be necessary, with these loans to be repaid over a period of years.

The Feather River Project, the San Luis Project, flood control, flood damage rehabilitation, and revision of the formula for distributing of tidelands revenues, are closely interwoven factors in the governmental and financial structure we plan to construct, and which we believe will enable us to proceed, without further delay, in the paramount work of conserving, developing, and controlling our California water supply.

During my tenure as Governer I have enjoyed most amicable relations with both houses of our Legislature. I am looking forward to working closely with all of you again during this session, and in the years to come.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Senator Byrne asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following report of the Joint Legislative Committee on Agriculture and Livestock Problems, printed in the Journal:

> JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE ON AGRICULTURAL AND LIVESTOCK PROBLEMS
> CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE, SACRAMENTO, March 7, 1956

TO THE PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS OF THE SENATE: This is to inform you that the subject matter of Senate Resolution No. 174 by Senators Kraft and Hulse, 1956 Regular Session of the California Legislature, relating to an interim study of grazing concessions in state parks was referred to the Joint Interim Committee on Agricultural and Livestock Problems and the committee now has the matter under consideration.

The subject matter of Senate Resolution 174 was referred to this committee by the Senate Rules Committee for "fair and impartial study with a view to determining the wisdom and value of continuing all grazing concessions in those sections of state parks to which the public is not admitted."

Senate Resolution No. 174 specifically requested that the interim committee report to the Senate on its research into this problem during the Budget Session of 1956 since the action of the State Park Commission in this respect may be taken in the near future.

This is to advise you that pursuant to this mandate, the subject matter of Senate Resolution No. 174 relating to grazing concessions in state parks was fully considered by the Joint Interim Committee on Agricultural and Livestock Problems at a meeting held in Los Angeles on February 3, 1956. At this meeting arguments were received from individuals and organizations representing both points of view on the matter of grazing in state parks. Although no legislative recommendation was made at this meeting, the committee by motion authorized its chairman to engage the services of a man qualified in range management to inspect the areas covered by the provisions of Senate Resolution No. 174 and report his findings to the full committee. This same motion also provided that until this report has been filed the committee request the Division of Beaches and Parks to continue the leases now in existence. This request has been called to the attention of Mr. Drury, Chief, Division of Beaches and Parks, State Department of Natural Resources.

This is also to inform you that the committee is presently engaged in selecting a competent range management specialist to undertake this study. It is the desire of this committee to secure the services of a qualified individual who will be acceptable to proponents of both points of view on this subject of grazing concessions in state parks.

As soon as this report has been filed and an opportunity provided for its study, it is felt that the committee will be in a better position to recommend legislation which it is hoped will resolve this controversy.

Respectfully submitted,

PAUL L. BYRNE, Chairman

The committee shall have authority to fill vacancies in any Senate committee or in the Senate membership of any joint committee.

In dealing with any matter within its jurisdiction the committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties, and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly as they are adopted and amended from time to time, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to the Committee on Rules and its members.

The committee may make available to any Senate or joint committee or any Member of the Senate such assistance in connection with the duties of the committee or other legislative matters as the personnel under the direction of the committee or its other facilities permit.

The committee shall make available to and shall furnish to the Senate investigating committees created at this regular session and to each of the members thereof such secretarial and stenographic help as may be reasonably necessary for such committees and each of the members thereof to make and carry on the studies and investigations required by or of them by the resolutions creating such committees, and for such purpose, in addition to any other power or authority, the Committee on Rules may employ such additional stenographic and secretarial assistants as may be necessary, assign and reassign such assistants, prescribe the amounts, times and methods of payment of their compensation, and provide for the auditing of any and all records and accounts in respect thereto.

The Committee on Rules shall constitute the Committee on Introduction of Bills and shall have charge of engrossment and enrollment of bills, contingent expenses of the Senate and legislative printing except insofar as these functions are delegated to the Secretary of the Senate. The Senate Committee on Rules shall have charge of the attaches unless a Committee on Attaches is appointed.

The rooms, passages, and buildings set apart for the use of the Senate shall be under the direction of the Committee on Rules and the committee may assign the press desks in the Senate Chamber to accredited newspaper representatives.

No warrant shall be drawn in payment of any claim for expenses until the approval of the Committee on Rules, or its authorized representative, has been obtained in accordance with the provisions of this Rule.

The Committee on Rules may adopt rules and regulations limiting the amount, time, and place of expenses and allowances to be paid to employees of Senate interim investigating committees and regulating the terms and conditions of employment of such employees. Copies of all rules and regulations adopted pursuant to this Rule shall be distributed to the chairman of every such investigating committee.

13.2. Pursuant to the powers vested in the Senate Committee on Rules, and during such time as the Senate is not in session, the committee is authorized and directed to incur and pay such expenses of the Senate not otherwise provided for as the committee determines are reasonably necessary, including the repair, alteration, improvement and equipping of the Senate Chamber and the offices provided for the Senate in the State Capitol.

In order to avoid unanticipated reversions of appropriations for contingent expenses, the Senate Committee on Rules may designate the appropriation from which payment shall be made pursuant to allocations to interim committees or for other purposes. If there should be insufficient money available in any such appropriation to pay all claims pursuant to allocations charged against it, the committee shall designate another appropriation from which such allocations shall be paid.

13.3. The Senate Committee on Rules is responsible for the safekeeping of Senate property after adjournment of each session until the Senate shall reconvene again. The Chief of the Bureau of Buildings and Grounds is directed to leave the Senate Chamber and all the committee rooms and other rooms used by the Senators and officers of the Senate in such condition that they will be available for use of the Senate at any time: and it is further directed that no persons other than the Members, officers, and attaches of the Senate be permitted to occupy or use the offices, committee rooms and other rooms now occupied by the Senate without permission as hereinafter provided, and that the desks, furniture, and other equipment of the Senate be at the disposal of the Senate Committee on Rules upon adjournment of each session and until the Senate shall reconvene, and that no person except Members of the Senate be permitted to occupy any of the Senate's offices or make use of Senate equipment without permission of the committee or its authorized representative.

The Committee on Rules shall have custody and control of all such property of the Senate and shall adopt such rules or orders as it may determine are necessary relating to the purchase, care, custody and use or disposal thereof.

No furniture, equipment, or other property, other than supplies, shall be purchased by any Senate interim committee unless prior approval is obtained from the Senate Committee on Rules or its authorized representative.

Status of Standing Rules for Preceding General Session

13.5. The adoption of the Standing Rules for any budget session or special session shall not be construed as modifying or rescinding the Standing Rules of the Senate for the preceding general session, nor as affecting in any way the status or powers of the interim committees created by those rules.

13.6. The Senate Committee on Rules is the committee provided for in Section 9126 of the Government Code. The balance of all money in the Senate Contingent Fund, including money now or hereafter appropriated, except such sums as are specifically made available for the expenses of designated interim committees or for other purposes, is hereby made available to the Senate Committee on Rules for any charges or claims it may incur in carrying out the duties imposed upon it by these rules or by Senate or joint resolution. The money made available by this rule includes the unencumbered balances of all sums heretofore made available to any Senate or joint interim committee by the Senate, upon the expiration of such committee, and shall be expended as provided in these rules.

Schedule of Committee Meetings

14. The Committee on Rules shall propose to the Senate such schedules for regular meetings of the standing committees as will permit a full attendance of their members without conflict of committee engagements.

The committee may also propose such special committee meetings or special schedules of committee meetings as will facilitate the business of the Senate. Such schedules may provide a special schedule of committee meetings or upon certain days of the week or to meet any special condition which may arise.

Quorum of Standing Committees-Vote

15. Each standing committee shall determine (a) its own quorum, and (b) the number of votes necessary to take any action upon any bill, resolution, or other matter referred to it, but at least a majority of all members constituting such committee shall be required to report a bill out of committee.

The vote by the number of ayes and noes on each bill reported back on all committee reports shall be noted in such reports and recorded in the Journal.

Powers of Standing Committees

16. Each standing committee of the Senate to which a proposed law or bill is assigned shall have full power and authority during the session of the Legislature or any recess thereof, to make such investigation and study of and concerning any such proposed law or bill as such committee shall determine necessary to enable it to properly enact thereon.

In the exercise of the power granted by this Rule, each committee may appoint a secretary and adopt such rules as may appear necessary and proper to carry out the powers granted and duties imposed under this Rule. It may employ such clerical, legal and technical assistants as may appear necessary when money has been made available therefor by the Senate.

Each standing committee is authorized and empowered to summon the subpena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, records and papers of every kind and description, to issue subpenas and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and to procure testimony, oral and documentary.

The members of such committees are, and each of them is, authorized and empowered to administer oaths, and all of the provisions of Chapter 4 of Part 1, Division 2, Title 2 of the Government Code, relating to the attendance and examination of witnesses before the Legislature and the committees thereof, shall apply to such committees.

The Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, or other person designated by the Sergeant-at-Arms or by the committee, shall serve any and all subpenas, orders and other process that may be issued by the committee, when directed to do so upon a vote of the majority of the membership of the committee.

All officers of this State, including the heads of each department, agency and subdivision thereof, and all employees of such departments, agencies and subdivisions, the Legislative Counsel, and all other persons whether connected with the State Government or not, shall give and furnish to these committees upon request such information, records and documents as the committees deem necessary or proper for the achievement of the purposes for which each standing committee was created.

Each standing committee may meet at the State Capitol and do any and all things necessary or convenient to enable it to exercise the powers and perform the duties herein granted to it and may expend such money as may be made available by the Senate for such purpose; but no committee shall incur any indebtedness unless money shall have first been made available therefor.

Special Investigating Committees

17. Except as provided by these rules, no committee for the investigation of any special subject shall be appointed except pursuant to a resolution which shall be entered in the Journal and referred to the Committee on Rules, and which shall be approved by a vote of a majority of the members elected to the Senate. The subject and purpose of the investigation shall be expressed in the title of the resolution and the scope of the investigations shall be consistent with the subject and purposes so expressed. No such committee shall have authority to extend its investigations to subjects not so expressed, nor beyond the scope indicated in the resolution. Unless otherwise directed by the resolution any committee so authorized shall be appointed within 20 days after the adoption of the resolution.

Funerals

The chairman or vice chairman of said Committee on Rules or any Member of the Senate designated by either of said officers may incur such expense as may be necessary for the purchase on behalf of the Senate of suitable floral pieces for any such funeral.

All expenses incurred pursuant to this resolution are hereby ordered to be paid out of the money allocated from the Contingent Fund of the Senate to the said Senate Committee on Rules and disbursed, after certification by the chairman or vice chairman of the committee, or by the committee's disbursing officer appointed and designated therefor by the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

A rule requiring a two-thirds vote on any question may be amended only by a two-thirds vote on one day's notice, and a rule requiring a two-thirds vote may be temporarily suspended only by a two-thirds vote.

All proposed amendments to these rules shall, upon presentation, be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate.

Introduction and Reference of Bills

The Committee on Rules shall check all Senate bills prior to introduction and all Assembly bills before reference to committee and shall designate the committees to which they shall be referred. The provisions of Rule 12 referring to the assignment of bills are intended as a guide to the committee but are not binding upon the committee.

Under the order of Introduction of Bills, the Secretary shall read each Senate bill the first time, shall read the name of the committee to which the bill has been assigned by the Committee on Rules, and unless otherwise ordered by the Senate without debate the assignment of the bill shall then be complete and after printing the Secretary shall deliver the bills to the committee so designated.

Under the order of Messages from the Assembly the Secretary shall read each Assembly bill the first time, shall read the name of the committee to which the bill has been assigned by the Committee on Rules, and unless otherwise ordered by the Senate without debate the assignment of the bill shall then be complete and the Secretary shall deliver the bill to the committee so designated.

24. Whenever at any special session a bill is received at the desk, under the order of Introduction of Bills, it shall be assigned a number by the Secretary, and be referred to the Committee on Rules which shall decide whether or not such bill can properly be considered at the session. If in the judgment of the Committee on Rules such bill can be considered it shall report it back and designate the committee to which it shall be assigned. Thereafter it shall be read first time and referred to the committee recommended by the Committee on Rules, unless otherwise referred on motion without debate.

Senate Resolutions

25. All Senate resolutions upon being presented shall be given a number by the Secretary. Such resolutions shall be printed in the Journal and indexed in the History and Journal.

26. During the constitutional recess or as soon thereafter as practicable the chairman of each committee shall prepare a schedule of hearings concerning bills referred to the committee. The schedule shall be arranged according to subjects insofar as may be convenient.

The schedules and any changes therein shall be delivered to the Senate as soon as convenient in order that due notice may be given to persons interested in the legislation.

No bill shall be set for hearing, nor shall any notice thereof be published by a Senate committee until the bill has been referred to the committee by the Committee on Rules of the Senate.

Substitute Committee Bills

27. A committee may amend into one bill related provisions germane to the subject and embraced within the title; and with the consent of the author the committee may constitute such bill a committee bill by striking out of the heading of the bill the line "Introduced by" and the name of the author and substituting therefor "Substitute committee bill of the Committee on" and the name of the committee.

28. The Senate may at any time by 21 votes recall a bill from committee.

Order of Making Files Consideration of Bills

29. When bills are reported from committee they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Secretary as follows: All bills when reported to the Senate by the committee shall be placed at the foot of the second reading Senate or Assembly file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the Senate or Assembly third reading file, in the order of reading. Unless otherwise ordered by the Senate the File shall be taken up in the following order: Senate second reading file, Assembly second reading file and Senate third reading file, Assembly third reading file. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the File, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate.

An inactive file shall be kept to which bills may be transferred at the request of the author, or on motion, and they shall be so transferred when they have been passed on third reading file without action three successive times. Bills may be carried on the inactive file by author and bill number without setting forth the title.

Bills may be transferred from the inactive file to the second reading file on motion, and after being read the second time such bills will take their place regularly on third reading file and be available for consideration and passage.

Notices of committee hearings shall be published in the File whenever presented by chairman of committees to the Secretary for that purpose. For such purpose bills will be identified by subject or by number.

Special Order

30. Any measure or subject may, by vote of a majority of those voting, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

Messages From the Governor or Assembly

31. Messages from the Governor or from the Assembly may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

Messages from the Governor or from the Assembly may be considered when indicated in the order of business or at any other time by unanimous consent or upon motion.

Engrossing Bills

32. All Senate bills, constitutional amendments and joint or concurrent resolutions shall be engrossed before final action is taken on them in the Senate. Engrossment shall consist of comparing the printed engrossed bill with the original bill introduced and any amendments adopted to ascertain that it is correct. When a bill is reported correctly engrossed it shall be substituted on the File for the original bill.

Enrolling Bills

33. All Senate bill shall be enrolled immediately following their final passage and receipt from the Assembly. An enrolled copy of every such bill, amendment or resolution shall be printed and examined to ascertain that it is a true and accurate copy of the measure as it was passed. It shall then be authenticated by the signatures of the President or President pro Tempore of the Senate and the Secretary or an Assistant Secretary of the Senate and by the corresponding officers of the Assembly and transmitted without delay to the Governor.

Debate

Statement of Motion

34. No motion shall be debated until the same be distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated.

Regulations as to Speaking

35. 1. When a Senator desires to address the Senate, he shall rise in his place, address the President, and when recognized he shall proceed to speak through the public address system.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

3. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

4. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no question shall be asked him except through the presiding officer.

5. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

Order in Debate

36. When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing by the Secretary of the Senate.

Right to Address the Senate

37. No person other than a Member of the Senate or the President thereof, shall address the Senate while it is in session but the Senate may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole and while sitting as such committee may be addressed by persons other than members.

Questions and Motions

Amendments to Bills

38. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee or offered from the floor, such amendments shall be submitted in triplicate.

Adoption of amendments to any bill in the Senate prior to third reading, other than by roll call, shall not preclude subsequent consideration in committee or on the third reading of the bill, of such amendments or any part thereof, by the Senate.

Motion to Lay on the Table

39. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

Division of a Question

40. If a question in debate contains more than one distinct proposition, any Senator may have the same divided.

The Previous Question

41. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall require a majority vote of the Senators present; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendment shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote.

Call of the Senate

42. Upon a motion being carried for a call of the Senate, the President shall immediately order the doors to be closed, and shall direct the Secretary to call the names of the absentees as disclosed by the last previous roll call. Thereupon, no members shall be permitted to leave the Senate Chamber except by written permission of the President pro Tempore or in his absence of the presiding officer. Those members who are found to be absent and for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody, as they appear, or may be sent for and then taken into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms wherever found, or by special messenger to be appointed for that purpose. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the members present may order a roll call of the Senate and compel the attendance of absentees in the manner above provided.

A call of the Senate may be ordered after the roll has been called and prior to the announcement of the vote.

No recess can be taken during a call of the Senate. During a call, the Senate may consider and transact any matter or business that the Senators then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had during a call of the Senate, except that during a call which was ordered for the purpose of procuring sufficient attendance for the conduct of business of the Senate in general and not for any other purpose, such call may be made to apply also to not more than one item of business by motion made and adopted by a majority vote of the members present after the roll has been called and prior to the announcement of the vote on such item of business. Under such circumstances, when the call of the Schate is dispensed with as to the item of business to which it is so applied it shall be deemed dispensed with as to the purpose for which is was originally made. When a call of the Senate is ordered, pending the announcement of the vote upon the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business, the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the Senate are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Senate.

Reconsideration

43. On the day on which a vote has been taken on any question a motion to reconsider the vote may be made by any member.

The motion may be considered on the day made or on the succeeding legislative day but may not be further postponed without the concurrence of 27 members.

No vote on a Senate bill may be reconsidered on or after the last day fixed for the consideration of Senate bills prior to adjournment and no vote may be reconsidered on the last day of the session.

When reconsideration of the vote by which any bill was passed has been demanded the Secretary shall not transmit it to the Assembly until the demand has been disposed of or the time for reconsideration has expired, but if the bill has already been transmitted to the Assembly the demand for reconsideration shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the bill. This motion shall be put to a vote immediately without debate and if not adopted shall preclude a demand for reconsideration.

A demand to reconsider the vote on any debatable question opens the main question to debate and the vote on the reconsideration shall be on the merits of such main question.

Voting by Senate

43.5. No action whereby a bill has been passed or defeated may be rescinded without the concurrence of 27 members.

Voting on Roll Call

44. Whenever a roll call is required by the Constitution or Rules, or is ordered by the Senate or demanded by three members, every member within the Senate shall without debate answer "Aye" or "No" when his name is called.

The names of members shall be called alphabetically.

No Senator shall be permitted to vote or change his vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

Excused From Voting

45. When a Senator declines or fails to vote on call of his name he may, after completion of the roll call, and before the announcement of the vote be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which question shall be decided without debate. Unless the Senator is excused from voting he shall be required to vote.

Voting by Presiding Senator

46. When the President pro Tempore or any other Member of the Senate is presiding over the Senate he shall vote on roll call the same as though he were not presiding.

Enrolling Bills

33. All Senate bills shall be enrolled immediately following their final passage and receipt from the Assembly. An enrolled copy of every such bill, amendment or resolution shall be printed and examined to ascertain that it is a true and accurate copy of the measure as it was passed. to speak through the public address system.

- 2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.
- 3. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

Right to Address the Senate

37. No person other than a Member of the Senate or the President thereof, shall address the Senate while it is in session but the Senate may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole and while sitting as such committee may be addressed by persons other than members.

An endments to Bills

38. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee or offered from the floor, such amendments shall be submitted in triplicate.

Adoption of amendments to any bill in the Senate prior to third reading, other than by roll call, shall not preclude subsequent consideration in committee or on the third reading of the bill, of such amendments or any part thereof, by the Senate.

Motion to Lay on the Table

39. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

Division of a Question

40. If a question in debate contains more than one distinct proposition, any Senator may have the same divided.

The Previous Question

41. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall require a majority vote of the Senators present; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendment shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote.

Call of the Senate

42. Upon a motion being earried for a call of the Senate, the President shall immediately order the doors to be closed, and shall direct the Secretary to call the names of the absentees as disclosed by the last previous roll call. Thereupon, no members shall be permitted to leave the Senate Chamber except by written permission of the President pro Tempore or in his absence of the presiding officer. Those members who are found to be absent and for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody, as they appear, or may be sent for and then taken into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms wherever found, or by special messenger to be appointed for that purpose. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the members present may order a roll call of the Senate and compel the attendance of absentees in the manner above provided.

A call of the Senate may be ordered after the roll has been called

and prior to the announcement of the vote.

No recess can be taken during a call of the Senate. During a call, the Senate may consider and transact any matter or business that the Senators then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had during a call of the Senate. except that during a call which was ordered for the purpose of procuring sufficient attendance for the conduct of business of the Senate in general and not for any other purpose, such call may be made to apply also to not more than one item of business by motion made and adopted by a majority vote of the members present after the roll has been called and prior to the announcement of the vote on such item of business. Under such circumstances, when the call of the Senate is dispensed with as to the item of business to which it is so applied it shall be deemed dispensed with as to the purpose for which it was originally made. When a call of the Senate is ordered, pending the announcement of the vote upon the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business, the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the Senate are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Senate.

Reconsideration

43. On the day on which a vote has been taken on any question a motion to reconsider the vote may be made by any member.

No vote on a Senate bill may be reconsidered on or after the last day fixed for the consideration of Senate bills prior to adjournment and no vote may be reconsidered on the last day of the session.

When reconsideration of the vote by which any bill was passed has been demanded the Secretary shall not transmit it to the Assembly until the demand has been disposed of or the time for reconsideration has expired, but if the bill has already been transmitted to the Assembly the demand for reconsideration shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the bill. This motion shall be put to a vote immediately without debate and if not adopted shall preclude a demand for reconsideration.

A demand to reconsider the vote on any debatable question opens the main question to debate and the vote on the reconsideration shall be on the merits of such main question.

No Senator shall be permitted to vote or change his vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

Excused From Voting

When a Senator declines or fails to vote on call of his name he may, after completion of the roll call, and before the announcement of the vote be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which question shall be decided without debate. Unless the Senator is excused from voting he shall be required to vote.

Voting by Presiding Senator

The following communication was received and read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

> MISSISSIPPI STATE SENATE JACKSON, March 7, 1956

Lieutenant Governor Harold J. Powers Capitol Building

Sacramento, California

DEAR GOVERNOR: I am directed by the Mississippi State Senate to transmit to you the attached Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 125. Sincerely,

HALLA MAY PATTISON, Secretary of the Senate

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 125

A Concurrent Resolution Condemning and Protesting the Usurpation and Encroach-Concurrent Resolution Condemning and Protesting the Usurpation and Encroachment on the Reserved Powers of the States by the Supreme Court of the United States and Declaring That Its Decisions of May 17, 1954, and May 31, 1955, and All Similar Decisions Arc in Violation of the Constitutions of the United States and the State of Mississippi, and Arc Therefore Unconstitutional and of No Lawful Effect Within the Territorial Limits of the State of Mississippi; Declaring that a Contest of Powers Has Arisen Between the State of Mississippi and Said Supreme Court and Invoking the Historic Doctrine of Interposition to Protect the Sovereignty of This and the Other States of the Union; and Calling on Our Sister States and the Congress for Redress of Grievances as Provided by Law; and for Other Purposes

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Mississippi, the House of Representatives Concurring Therein, That the Legislature of Mississippi unequivocally expresses a firm determination to maintain and defend the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of this State, against every attempt, whether foreign or domestic, to undermine and destroy the fundamental principles embodied in our basic law by which this government was established, and by which the liberty of the people and the sovereignty of the States, in their proper spheres, have been long protected and guaranteed;

That the Legislature of Mississippi explicitly and peremptorily declares and maintains that the powers of the Federal Government emanate solely from the compact, to which the States are principals, as limited by the plain sense and long recognized intention of the instrument creating that compact;

That the Legislature of Mississippi firmly asserts that the powers of the Federal Government are limited, and valid only to the extent that these powers have been conferred as enumerated in the compact to which the various states assented originally and to which the states have consented in subsequent amendments validly ratified;

That the inherent nature of this basic compact, apparent upon its face, is that the ratifying states, parties thereto, have agreed voluntarily to confer certain of their sovereign rights, but only specific sovereign rights, to a Federal Government thus constituted; and that all powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor probibited by it to the states, have been reserved to the states respectively, or to the people;

That the State of Mississippi has at no time, through the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, or in any manner whatsoever, delegated to the Federal Government its right to educate and nurture its youth and its power and right of control over its schools, colleges, educational and other public institu-tions and facilities, and to prescribe the rules, regulations and conditions under which they shall be conducted:

That the aggrandizement of powers by the Federal Government has grown far beyond that ever conceived by the authors of our Constitution, that the secure and concentration therein of powers not granted by the compact under which the several states entered this Union, and particularly that by which Mississippi entered the Union on December 10, 1817, threaten to reduce these sovereign states to mere satellites, and to subject us to the tyranny of centralized government, so rightfully abhorred by the founders, and for the prevention of which they exercised their finest genius:

That in late years the encroachment upon the reserved rights of the States and of the people has grown apace, and the proponents of the acts of eneroachment have grown so emboldened that not one of the sister states and its people have escaped the oppressive hand thereof: In the destruction of their vested property rights; abridgments of their liberties; control of their institutions, habits, manners and morals by centralized bureaucratic instrumentalities; and in fact by various wrongful and obtrusive acts, too numerous to be here documented, but so consistently characterized by an oppressive course of action so as to seriously threaten to completely destroy our constitutional processes and substitute in lieu thereof ideologies foreign to the soil of our beloved land;

That one of the noblest characteristics of our people is the reverent respect for and obedience to the courts of law and justice, and that which more than any other has ennobled our institutions of government, and ought to be challenged only with the most dreadful reluctance, still it should be solemnly and firmly declared that the hand of tyranny ought to be staved from whatsoever source it might strike;

That we profess an undying attachment to and warm regard and respect for the sister states, and for this Union, which, through unwarranted and unconstitutional action of the Supreme Court, is fastly being dissolved by usurpation of powers reserved to the states and transferring them to an all-powerful centralized government which, unless halted, will reduce the states to impotent vassals, sheared of all rights and powers except those received at the sufferance of the Federal Government:

That a question of contested power has arisen; the Supreme Court of the United States asserts, for its part, that the states did in fact prohibit unto themselves the power to maintain racially separate public institutions, and the State of Mississippi, for its part, asserts that it and its sister states have never delegated such rights; That the flagrant assertion upon the part of the Supreme Court of the United States, accompanied by threats of coercion and compulsion against the sovereign states of this Union, constitutes a deliberate, palpable, and dangerous attempt by the court to usurp the exercise of powers not granted to it;

That the Legislature of Mississippi asserts that whenever the Federal Government attempts to engage in the deliberate, palpable and dangerous exercise of powers not granted to it, the states who are parties to the compact have the right, and are in duty bound, to interpose for arresting the progress of the evil, and for maintaining, within their respective limits, the authorities, rights and liberties appertaining to them;

That failure on the part of this state thus to assert its clear rights would be construed as acquiescence in the surrender thereof, and that such submissive acquiescence to the seizure of one right would in the end lead to the surrender of all rights, and inevitably to the consolidation of the states into one sovereignty. contrary to the sacred compact by which this Union of States was created;

That the question of contested power asserted in this resolution is not within the province of the court to determine because the court itself seeks to usurp the powers which have been reserved to the states, and, therefore, under these circumstances, the judgment of all of the parties to the compact must be sought to resolve the question; that the Supreme Court is not a party to this compact, but a creature of the compact, and the question of contested power cannot be settled by the creature seeking to usurp the power, but by the parties to the compact who are the people of the respective states in whom ultimate sovereignty finally reposes;

be it further

Resolved, That in order that relief be obtained and the wrongs and injuries inflicted be alleviated, we invite all of our sister states to join in taking such steps as are necessary to settle the grave question of contested sovereignty herein raised; the State of Mississippi declares that the Congress has the duty and authority to protect the rights of the states from the unwarranted encroachment upon their reserved powers to govern the internal and domestic affairs of the states; the State of Mississippi further asserts that the Congress has, on many occasions in the past, curbed the attempted encroachment by the judiciary upon the legislative and executive branches of government, and it is the responsibility of the Congress likewise to protect the states when their constitutional rights and privileges are endangered:

The State of Mississippi declares emphatically that the sovereign states of the Nation have never surrendered their rights and powers to control their public schools, colleges and other public institutions; therefore, when an attempt is made to usurp these powers, the people of Mississippi object and refuse to be so deprived, reminding the Congress that the preservation of this Union of States, as the compact intended it should be, depends upon the preservation of the sovereignty of the states;

The compact intended ours to be a government of the people, for the people and, above all, a government by the people; if the right to govern and control the local affairs to decide questions of public health, morals, education and safety are taken from the states, then a fatal blow has been dealt state sovereignty and the states are nothing more than vassal provinces, subject to a central government;

The State of Mississippi declares that it is the duty and privilege of a state to object to the aforesaid invasion of its rights and does hereby interpose its sovereignty to protect these rights; it is the duty of the Congress to halt such practices and save these rights; and if such cannot be obtained other than by amendments to the Federal Constitution, we appeal to the Congress, in the exercise of the power granted under Article 5 of the Constitution, to initiate and submit an appropriate amendment direct to the forty-eight states for ratification by three-fourths (3) of the Legislatures thereof, declaring that the states have never surrendered their rights and powers to control their public schools, colleges and other public institutions and facilities to the Federal Government, or any department or agency thereof, but such powers are reserved to the states; and until such time as these wrongs are righted, we do hereby declare the decisions and order of the Supreme Court of the United States of May 17, 1954, and May 31, 1955, to be a usurpation of power reserved to the several states and do declare, as a matter of right, that said decisions are in violation of the Constitution of the United States and the State of Mississippi, and therefore, are considered unconstitutional, invalid and of no lawful effect within the confines of the State of Mississippi;

We declare, further, our firm intention to take all appropriate measures honorably and constitutionally available to us, to void this illegal encroachment upon our rights, and we do hereby urge our sister states to take prompt and deliberate action to check further encroachment by the Federal Government, through judicial legislation, upon the reserved powers of all states.

The Governor of Mississippi is respectfully requested to transmit a copy of this resolution to the President of the United States, the Governor of each of the other states, and to the members of Congress and the Supreme Court of the United States. Adopted by the Senate, February 29, 1932.

CARROLL GARTIN, President of the Senate

Adopted by the House of Representatives, February 29, 1956.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

SENATE INTERIM COMMITTEE ON RECREATION, STATE BEACHES AND PARKS CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE, SACRAMENTO, January 11, 1956

Hon. Harold J. Powers, President and Members of the Senate

GENTLEMEN: Pursuant to Senate Resolution No. 125 of the 1955 General Session, your Interim Committee on Recreation. State Beaches and Parks transmits herewith a preliminary report on the California State Park System and Program, consisting of two studies made by the committee's consultants.

The report was prepared at an early date with the thought that its wide circulation among citizens and interested organizations might encourage greater public discussion of the usefulness of the State Park System as a service to the people of the State and assist the committee in securing the views of a great many people with reference to park problems.

The report does not recount any activity of your committee nor does it contain any findings, conclusions, or recommendations of the committee's final report will, under the normal procedure, be submitted to the Legislature at the 1957 General Session.

The studies contained in the report are informative and thought provoking and it is hoped that they may help lead the way to a common understanding and a common purpose in determining the course of future state action with regard to its statewide system of parks.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUIS G. SUTTON, Chairman A. A. ERHART
A. H. BREED, JR.
NELSON S. DILWORTH

RECESS

At 2.15 p.m., on motion of Senator Gibson, the Senate recessed for the introduction of guests.

The President appointed Senators Gibson, Berry, and Breed as a special committee to escort Rear Admiral Martin J. Lawrence to the rostrum.

Senator Gibson introduced Admiral Lawrence, Commander Mare Island Naval Shipyard, who addressed the Senate as follows:

Mr. President, Distinguished Members of the California State Senate, AND GUESTS: I am very honored with the privilege extended to me by this body to make a brief appearance here on behalf of the Mare Island Naval Shipyard. You will recall that it was less than two years ago that the Mare Island Naval Base, of which the shipyard is a segment, celebrated its 100th anniversary. At that time the State Legislature was most generous in its participation in the observance of this birthday date of the West's oldest naval establishment. Looking back, it must be a great source of pride to you to have contributed to the marking of a history milestone. Possibly it was not fully realized that this was only a stepping stone to what was going to take place in the second century of existence, but without any doubt it succeeded in bringing the shipyard into national prominence. Recently your confidence has been recognized in some of the developments that I am about to mention.

The great State of California is a pioneer of the western seaboard. Since statehood in 1850 it has continued its initiative and leadership in many fields. Since 1854 the Mare Island Naval Shipyard has kept pace with California. Today I want to point out to you how we are continuing to keep that pace, and how we are you now we are continuing to keep that pace, and now we are accelerating this effort.

You will recall that on this coast, Mare Island pioneered in the transition from wood to steel, from sail to coal, and from coal to oil, and now is pioneering in the transition from oil to nuclear power. It built the Navy's first tanker and later the Jupiter which was converted for use again by Mare Island as the Navy's first aircraft carrier. It built the first radio station in the Pacific. It still has the aircraft carrier. It built the first radio station in the Pacine, it still has the responsibility for the construction of new radio stations throughout the entire Pacific, including Japan, the Philippines, and Alaska. It has contributed 494 craft to the fleet, including the battleship California, the heavy cruiser San Francisco, as well as 50 some destroyers and escorts, and 29 submarines. During our centennial in September, 1954, which many of you attended, the Chief of Naval Operations announced the Mare Island Naval Shipyard would be designated as a building yard for nuclear propelled ships. The shipyard immediately embarked on a comprehensive training program to be granged for this great This involved sending many civilian. for nuclear propelled snips. The shipyard immediately embarked on a comprehensive training program to be prepared for this event. This involved sending many civilian personnel and officers to various parts of the United States, such as Oak Ridge, the Westinghouse Laboratories, and the Electric Boat Company for a six-months' instruction course. These men have returned, and during the past several months they have been conscientiously instructing all levels of personnel in the shippard in the problems, difficulties and the intricacies of both the design of a nuclear propelled ship as well as the construction of the ship itself.

Even the common laborer must realize that quality far beyond that used in the construction of any other type of ship must be built into a nuclear powered vessel.

construction of any other type of ship must be built into a nuclear powered vessel. Welding techniques must be improved, inspection, fabrication, installation, and all of the various phases must be thoroughly understood together with the reasons in back of them by our journeymen, our supervisors, and by management itself. Last year Mare Island was awarded the construction of the nuclear powered submarine Saryo, the first to be built in Pacific waters. It was also awarded the basic design in construction of a guided missile submarine powered in a conventional manner with diesel engines. To be very brief, a guided missile vessel of this type was new. At least, it was new from the point of view that for the first time the ship itself was to be constructed from the ground up for this one purpose and was not to be a conversion of a standard submarine, such as Mare Island did—another first—on the Rarbero and the Tanno.

was not to be a conversion of a standard submarine, such as Mare Island did—another first—on the Barbero and the Tanny.

The keel of the Saryo was laid on February 21st of this year, but the significance of that occasion was overshadowed almost immediately by another history making announcement. Mare Island design personnel, under the leadership of Commander W. E. Heronemus and Commander E. E. Kintner, and their principal assistants Mr. Herbert Graybeal, W. J. Imboden, P. A. Green, H. G. Ubrich, and George C. Childs, in laying out the design criteria for the guided missile ship, recognized a very close similarity in hull size both in diameter and characteristics to the plans we had verying from the Wickeria Boat. Co. for the sudgest subspirite approximation of the sudgest subspirite and characteristics. we had received from the Electric Boat Co. for the nuclear powered submarine Sargo. It seemed entirely possible and feasible to them that here was an opportunity to marry together two classes of vessels, and possibly provide this Nation with a weapon whose potential would be far in excess of any other we know today. With my permission, after working hours and on weekends these men made several independent studies which, when brought together showed definitely that it could be done-that we could save over all design time as far as the guided missile ship was concerned—we could get the ship on the building ways sooner, and because of the similarity of the major portion of it to the Surgo, we could save time in its actual construction. Obviously, when you substitute a nuclear power plant for a conventional plant, you have a more expensive final product. With the potential that appeared to be in the offing, this additional expense appeared to be well deserved.

appeared to be in the offing, this additional expense appeared to be well deserved. These studies were forwarded to Washington. It didn't take long for Rear Admiral A. G. Mumma, Chief of the Bureau of Ships, and for Rear Admiral A. M. Morgan, in charge of ship design, to realize the possibilities. Both of these gentlemen have previously appeared before this honorable body. Similarly, when they presented the problem to the Chief of Naval Operations and the Secretary of the Navy, Hon. Charles S. Thomas, a fellow Californian, they too realized that here was a new concept that could immediately be put into use. Likewise the Congress of the United States saw the tremendous potential and authorized the Navy to proceed with its plans for such a submarine, that is, a nuclear powered guided missile submarine. The assignment was given to Mare Island.

The assignment was given to Mare Island.

Now in the back of your minds there may some questions lurking about this vessel. Principally there are three major parts to the problem—the propulsion, the missile itself, and the guidance of that missile once it is launched. Let us briefly examine each of these phases.

Just what is the difference between a nuclear type bomb and a nuclear power plant? Speaking in a nuclear language, there isn't any. In the bomb we design the construction to get a fast build-up of a terrific amount of energy, to contain that energy a sufficient length of time so that total fission can take place, and then to release it all at once giving up a tremendous explosion. With the nuclear power plant we do the same thing except that we control the speed of the build-up of the energy, and then control its release in minute quantities so that it can be converted from heat to a source of usable power such as one finds in a normal steam cycle. You might ask, "Well, what would happen if we lost control?" In effect, we would have the same tremendous amount of energy that one finds in the bomb except that not being contained, it will melt itself down and go through the hull of the ship. To guard against this however, all of our controls, and there are many of them—one backing up the other—are so designed that with any part of the system failing to perform its function that it will fail safely and all action will cease. To relieve your minds still more a power reactor cannot become a bomb. All experiments to make it such have been unsuccessful. The shippard personnel or the community do not have to fear either this or the possibility of radiological hazards.

Now as the second part, that of the guided missile itself: The problem of the design engineers at Marc Island is to so arrange a section of the submarine that it can house several of the Regulus type birds, that they can be loaded on this submarine, that they can be worked on within the submarine and given their routine tests and adjustments, and that they can be brought out on deck and fired with a reasonable assurance they will hit the target several hundred miles away.

The third part, the guidance system, is a means whereby we can send a radio beam into the atmosphere in the direction of the target, and its characteristics will be such that it will tell that missile in directing its flight, how to steer itself in order to arrive at the desired destination. The problem of the building of the missile and the guidance system are not problems of my design engineers, but the marrying together of the three principal components—power, missile and guidance system, into an over-all excellent submarine is.

Now what does such a weapon mean to our future? What does it mean to Mare Island, to California, and to the Nation? Some of the intangible results will be a tremendous upgrading in the engineering knowledge existing in the whole California area. It will mean a much higher quality of work ingrained into each and every workman. We will stand to gain not only in this particular construction from that fact, but purely by association will also gain in the other work that is performed at the shipyard. Pride of workmanship, shall we say, will be busting out all over. Since we are working with the new and not trying to exist on the past, we will be able to be in the forefront when it comes to the assignment of more work. Later on we will be concerned with the upkeep and repairs that will be needed for these nuclear powered types of vessels which will become more and more numerous as the Country gears itself to build them.

Consistent then with national defense needs, I feel we can look forward to a stabilized workload. However, we must guard against trying to increase that workload too much, since new construction invariably requires periods of high employment as well as low employment in various trades. The ideal is to have a certain number of vessels under construction—some beginning, some at the peak, and others finishing up. When you can have an established workload, you bring stabilization to the community such as in their school systems, transportation, housing problems, and many other factors. These can get completely upset when a large industrial organization has high periods of employment and low periods of employment within a space of several months.

Finally, by establishing this potential we have founded the cornerstone of a capability of action and of know how which by its existence alone will aid in giving the world, this Nation, the great State a tremendous possibility of peaceful living in the future.

What will this new weapon do? It will do almost as much as you can let your imagination conceive. It can cruise for indefinite periods of time into any waters practically unchallenged. It can come to the surface, launch its missile toward a distant target and disappear again beneath the deep waters in which it exists. Can you picture anything which would be a greater deterrent to a possible unfriendly nation than the mere existence of even only a few of these guided missile submarines? You will in time, just as I am now doing, point with pride to what is being done by the 11,000 employees at the Mare Island Naval Shippyard in providing what may very well be the one big deterrent to another horrible world conflagration.

Above remarks by Admiral Martin J. Lawrence printed in the Journal on motion by Senator Murdy.

REASSEMBLED

At 2.33 p.m., the Senate reconvened.

Hon. Harold J. Powers, President of the Senate, presiding.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

Annual Report of the California Reciprocity Commission to the California State Legislature

March 29, 1956

To the Members of the Senate and Assembly of the State of California;

The Legislature created a Reciprocity Commission by Chapter 1002, Statutes of 1955, and provided, among other things, that such commission should report annually to the Legislature.

The Reciprocity Commission consists of the Lieutenant Governor, the Director of Motor Vehicles, the Director of Public Works, the State Controller, and the Commissioner of the California Highway Patrol, all serving ex officio.

The commission met on September 8, 1955, and organized, electing the Director of Motor Vehicles chairman of the commission.

The commission met again on October 8, 1955, to consider a proposed uniform agreement for reciprocity and proration of fees of fleets of commercial vehicles among the states which became parties to the agreement. At this time the commission agreed in principle on the proposed uniform form of agreement and authorized the chairman of the commission to proceed with negotiations with other states, looking toward entering into the agreement.

The next meeting of the commission was held on November 14, 1955. At this meeting the commission considered and agreed upon restrictions which would be necessary to attach to the uniform agreement in order to comply with California statutes and properly protect the State of California.

The last meeting was held on November 28, 1955. The commission, at this meeting, considered the specific restrictions or reservations made by other states, accepted them, and authorized the chairman of the commission to sign the agreement in behalf of the California Reciprocity Commission.

There are now in effect proration and reciprocity agreements between the State of California and the States of Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Nevada, Colorado, Kansas, and New Mexico.

There have been further discussions between the states concerning the administrative problems of properly identifying vehicles subject to proration and certain similar administrative problems, but no further question has arisen which appears to call for consideration by the Reciprocity Commission.

Registrations under the agreements started on January 1, 1956. At this time it appears too early to attempt to evaluate the results being obtained.

Submitted herewith is a copy of the Uniform Vehicle Registration Proration and Reciprocity Agreement including conditions or restrictions of each of the states which are parties to the agreement.

Respectfully submitted.

HAROLD J. POWERS Lieutenant Governor ROBERT C. KIRKWOOD Controller FRANK DURKEE Director of Public Works B. R. CALDWELL Commissioner, California Highway Patrol PAUL MASON Director of Motor Vehicles Chairman

THIRD READING OF SENATE BILLS

President of the Senate Presiding

At 9.25 a.m., Hon, Harold J. Powers, President of the Senate, presiding.

Senate Resolution No. 31

Relative to widening the Black Point-Sears Point Highway

Whereas, A serious traffic hazard exists on that part of State Routes 8 and 208, known as the Black Point-Sears Point State Highway, because of ever-increasing traffic and substandard construction which has resulted in numerous accidents and fatalities; and

WHEREAS, This highway is a vitally important military route and feeder route between U. S. Highway 101 in Marin County and U. S. Highway 40 in Solano County, serving the strategic Mare Island Navy Yard, the vast Air Force bases at Hamilton Field and Travis Field, as well as being an essential farm-to-market road for agriculturists and shippers in California; and

Whereas, The State Department of Public Works in a report to the Senate, requested by Senate Resolution No. 44, 1949 Regular Session, recommended improvement on State Highway Routes 8 and 208 as rapidly as funds would permit rather than to construct a new highway between Sears Point and Cordelia Wye on

U. S. Highway 40 in Solano County; and Whereas, This report stated that "The traffic on this route (Sears Point cutoff) will continue to grow and establish demand for its retention of four lanes thereon"; and

WHEREAS, The State Department of Public Works made a further survey and estimate of cost of the improvement of this highway in response to Senate Resolution No. 199 as amended, 1951 Regular Session, but no funds have been allocated since that report by the State Highway Commission for the improvement; and WHEREAS, Widening of the highway will not only remove the existing traffic hazards but provide a more adequate route to and from San Francisco, Sonoma, Napa, and Sacramento Valley points and thus relieve congestion on U. S. Highway and the ment highway into San Francisco during contraction of the desired of the ment highway into San Francisco during contraction of the second of the ment highway into San Francisco.

way 40, the main highway into San Francisco, during construction of the new Carquinez Bridge and approaches; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the California Highway Commission is requested to give consideration to allocating funds for development of a freeway on the portion of State Highway Routes 8 and 208 between U.S. Highway 101 in Marin County and U. S. Highway 40 in Solano County; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Public Works and said commission are requested to report thereon to the Senate on the convening of the 1957 Regular Session of the Legislature; and be it further

Resolved. That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to send copies of this resolution to the California Highway Commission and to the Director of Public Works.

Resolution read, and unanimously adopted on a motion by Senator Abshire.

Enactment of Budget Bill at Special Session-No. 2182

DEAR SENATOR HULSE:

Question

You have asked our opinion whether a budget bill could be enacted at a special session of the Legislature called for that purpose if the Legislature fails to enact a budget bill prior to final adjournment of the current budget session.

Opinion

While there is no express constitutional provision on this point and while all of the specific references in the Constitution to the budget bill relate to the enactment of such a bill at a regular session it is our opinion that the courts would uphold the validity of a budget bill that was passed at a special session called for that purpose. However, it should be noted that a proclamation issued by the Governor calling a special session for that purpose would not restrict the Legislature to the enactment of a single appropriation bill. If the Legislature elected to do so it could enact separate appropriation bills for the support of the various state agencies and for the various public purposes for which items of appropriation are normally included in a budget bill.

Analysis

This particular problem has never been considered by the courts of this State. It arises now because of the constitutional provision limiting the duration of regular sessions of the Legislature and specifically the provision that no budget session shall exceed 30 calendar days in duration.

The constitutional provisions relating to the budget bill are contained in Section 34 of Article IV. That section provides in part that at each regular session of the Legislature the Governor shall submit a budget containing a complete plan and itemized statement of all proposed expenditures of the State provided by existing law or recommended by him and of all estimated revenues for the ensuing fiscal year. This budget shall be submitted within the first 30 days of each general session, and prior to its recess, and within the first three days of each budget session. The budget shall be accompanied by an appropriation bill covering the proposed expenditures to be known as the budget bill, which shall be introduced immediately into each house of the Legislature by the respective chairmen of the committees having to do with appropriations.

The section further provides "no bill making an appropriation of money except the budget bill shall contain more than one item of appropriation and that for one single and certain purpose to be therein expressed." (Emphasis added)

By reason of the provision just quoted it is obvious that unless a "budget bill" can be considered and enacted at a special session, provision for support of the State Government for the next fiscal year could be made at such a session only by enactment of several hundred bills, each of which could contain but one item of appropriation for a single and certain purpose.

The power of the Governor to call a special session is contained in Section 9 of Article V, which provides that "He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the Legislature by proclamation, stating the purposes for which he has convened it, and when so convened it shall have no power to legislate on any subjects other than those specified in the proclamation, but may provide for the expenses of the session and other matters incidental thereto." There can be no question that the consequences of failure to enact a budget bill for the next fiscal year would be such as to necessitate the exercise by the Governor of the power vested in him by this section which contains no limitation whatever as to the purposes for which the special session may be convened.

Only the very narrowest construction of the constitutional provisions relating to the budget bill would support a conclusion that the Legislature could not enact such a bill at a special session. Certainly the enactment thereof at a special session is not in contravention of the object of the provision that no bill other than the budget bill shall contain more than one item of appropriation.

It is an elementary proposition that the Constitution of this State operates as a restriction upon the powers of the Legislature and that the Legislature has all powers not expressly denied to it by that document. We conclude, therefore, that the Legislature may enact a budget bill containing more than one item of appropriation at a special session convened for that purpose.

However, the "subject" upon which the Legislature would have power to legislate pursuant to the proclamation so convening it would be as broad as the title of the budget bill, that is the making of appropriations for the support of the Government of the State and for other public purposes for expenditure under the existing laws of the State. The proclamation could not restrict the Legislature to the enactment of a single bill containing all such appropriations. The question whether to do so or to enact separate appropriation bills for the various purposes would be a matter left to the discretion of the Legislature.

Effect of Final Passage of Budget Bill by a Majority but Less Than a Two-thirds Vote—No. 2182

DEAR SENATOR HULSE:

Question

You have asked our opinion what would happen in respect to the support of the State Government commencing July 1st next should the Budget Bill receive a majority but not a two-thirds vote upon final passage in either house of the Legislature.

Opinion

The result would be a failure of funds in respect to all state functions (except the Public School System) supported from the General Fund and whose support appropriations are normally included in the Budget Bill. The state agencies could not function after that date because of lack of an appropriation from which salaries could be paid and supplies purchased.

Analysis

Section 34a of Article IV of the Constitution provides that appropriations from the General Fund of the State for any fiscal year, exclusive of appropriations for support of the Public School System, shall not exceed by more than 5 percent the appropriations from such fund, exclusive of such public school appropriations, for the preceding fiscal year unless two-thirds of all the members elected to each house of the Legislature voted in favor thereof; provided, that no amount appropriated in excess of such 5 percentum shall become a part of the basis for determining the maximum appropriation for a succeeding fiscal year.

The section further provides that the first bill passed (whether it be the Budget Bill or any other bill) by less than a two-thirds vote which exceeds the 5 percent limit should be reduced by the amount of excess of that limit, and all other subsequent appropriations from the General Fund not passed by such a two-thirds vote shall be roid.

For all practical purposes the Budget Bill must be passed by a two-thirds vote of all members elected to each house of the Legislature, since failure to obtain such a vote will void all of the appropriations therein from the General Fund except appropriations for the support of the Public School System. Only the appropriations from special funds would be effective. In other words, failure to pass the Budget Bill by the required two-thirds vote has substantially the same effect upon state agencies supported from the General Fund as a failure to mass any Budget Bill at all.

supported from the General Fund as a failure to pass any Budget Bill at all.

The "base" referred to in Section 34a of Article IV of the Constitution is the total appropriated from the General Fund, other than for public schools, for the 1933-35 biennium plus 5 percent accumulated for each two years thereafter until 1947. Since that time (when the Constitution was amended to provide for annual Budget Bills) the base has been one-half of the 1945-47 base plus 5 percent accumulated for each fiscal year.

During the years immediately following the adoption of Section 34a, a number of continuing appropriations from the General Fund were enacted or amended to increase the total amount appropriated from the General Fund to such an extent that for many years these continuing appropriations alone exceeded the original base plus the 5 percent accumulated increases. As a result, any appropriation made by the Legislature from the General Fund for the next fiscal year is in excess of the base prescribed by the Constitution and is void unless it is passed by a two-thirds vote. This is equally true whether the appropriation is in the Budget Bill or in a separate bill.

This office has had occasion to consider this question on numerous occasions. Opinions to the same effect as this one appear in the Senate Journal for May 29, 1945, at page 3205 and in the Assembly Journal for June 7, 1949, at page 4157. We also call your attention to a communication from the Director of Finance to the Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee with reference to the computation of the existing amount of General Fund appropriation over the maximum amount allowable under the constitutional limitation printed in the Senate Journal for May 29, 1945, commencing at page 2992.

Failure to Enact Budget Bill-No. 2182

DEAR SENATOR HULSE:

Question

You have asked our opinion as to the effect of a failure on the part of the Legislature to enact a Budget Bill for the 1956-57 Fiscal Year.

Opinion

Failure to enact a Budget Bill would mean that as of the first day of July no appropriations would be available for those state agencies that are supported from the General Fund and whose support appropriations are normally included in the Budget Bill. These state agencies would, therefore, of necessity cease to function. Such agencies include the state hospitals and correctional institutions, state prisons, the several departments of State Government, the State Board of Equalization, and the Legislature except for salaries of the members which probably under the provisions of the Constitution are continuing appropriations.

This situation would not be true, however, as to those agencies that are supported from special funds. Special funds in the State Treasury are generally continually appropriated for the respective purposes for which the funds were created, which ordinarily includes support of the agency administering the particular activity.

Analysis

There is no provision made in the Constitution of this State for the automatic renewal of appropriations upon failure to enact a Budget Bill. Section 22 of Article IV of the Constitution provides in part that no money shall be drawn from the Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law. Failure to enact a Budget Bill would mean that as of July 1, there would be no appropriation against which the Controller would be authorized to draw a warrant upon the General Fund for the support and administration of the state agencies whose support appropriations from that source are included in the Budget Bill. Those agencies would be unable to pay salaries or purchase supplies to carry out their functions.

be unable to pay salaries or purchase supplies to carry out their functions.

As to agencies supported from special funds, the inclusion in the Budget Bill of appropriations for their support does not, in fact, constitute making an appropriation but rather imposes a limit upon the amount that may be expended by the particular agency from the special fund during the fiscal year. Failure to enact the Budget Bill or the omission of such items from the Budget Bill would not preclude such agencies from expending special funds, insofar as they have been heretofore appropriated for their support.

HARVEY O. BANKS, Executive Officer

Resolution of the Water Project Authority of the State of California adopted at special meeting on February 7, 1956

Whereas, The recent floods have pointed up the need for immediate development of some of the features of the State Water Plan in order to control floods, and

WHEREAS, The Senators and the Representatives of California in the Congress of the United States have introduced measures to speed the allocation of non-reimbursable flood control funds to multipurpose projects in the State of California and in particular the Oroville Dam on the Feather River and have indicated that at least $100,000,000 should immediately be made available for that purpose, and

Whereas, In addition to federal flood control moneys other funds will be needed to construct such multipurpose projects, and

WHEREAS, It is possible that if the State were to make substantial funds immediately available to supplement federal flood control moneys that immediate construction could be undertaken; and now, therefore, be it

Resolved. That this authority recommend to the Covernor and Legislature that approximately $100,000,000 be made immediately available for the construction of multipurpose water projects which are included as a part of the State Water Plan.

Resolved, That the Water Project Authority go on record as favoring as a part of such consolidation the abolishment of the Water Project Authority or the confining of the activities of the authority to the administration of problems incident to the financing of water projects.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Condemning and protesting the usurpation and encroachment on the reserved powers of the States by the Supreme Court of the United States, calling upon the States and Congress to prevent this and other encroachment by the central government and declaring the natenties of South Carolina to exercise all powers reserved to it, to protect its sovereignty, and the rights of its people.

Mindful of its responsibilities to its own citizens and of its obligations to the other States, the General Assembly of South Carolina adopts this Resolution in condemnation of and protest against the illegal energachment by the central government into the reserved powers of the States and the rights of the people, and against the grace threat to constitutional government, implicit in the recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, for these reasons:

1. The genius of the American Constitution lies in two provisions. It establishes a clear division between the powers deregated by the States to the central government and the name of the States are in the powers deregated by the States to the central government and the name of the States to the central government and the name of the States to the central government and the name of the States to the central government and the name of the States to the central government and the name of the States to the central government and the name of the States to the central government and the name of the States to the central government and the name of the States to the central government and the name of the States to the central government and the name of the States to the central government and the name of the States to the central government and the name of the states to the central government and the name of the states to the central government.

a clear division between the powers deregated by the States to the central government and the powers reserved to the States, or to the people. As a prerequisite to any lawful redistribution of these powers, it establishes as a part of the process for its amendment the requirement of approval by the States.

The division of these powers is reaffirmed in the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution in these words: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.'

Long judicial procedent also clearly reaffirms that central government is one of delegated powers, specifically enumerated in the Constitution, and that all other powers of government, not prohibited by the Constitution to the States, are reserved to the States or to the people.

The power to propose changes and the power to approve changes in the basic law is specifically stated by Article V of the Constitution in these words: "The Congress, whenever two thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two thirds of the several states, shell call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress Lincoln, in his first inaugural, recognized these constitutional principles in the following language: "The maintenance inviolate to the rights of the States, and especially the right of each State to order and control its own domestic institutions.

especially the right of each State to order and control its own domestic institutions, according to its own judgment exclusively, is essential to that balance of power on which the perfection and endurance of our political fabric depend..."

2. Neither the judicial power delegated to the Supreme Court in Article III of the Constitution nor such appellate jurisdiction as the Article authorizes the Congress to confer upon the Court, makes the Court the Supreme Arbiter of the rights of the States under the compact.

3. The right of each of the States to maintain at its own expense racially separate public schools for the children of its citizens and other racially separate public facilities is not forbidden or limited by the language or the intent of the Fourteenth Amendment. This meaning of the Fourteenth Amendment was established beyond reasonable question by the action of the Congress in providing for racially segregated schools in the District of Columbia by legislation contemporaneous with the submisschools in the District of Commins by legislation contemporaneous with the samulassion of the Fourteenth Amendment to the States in 1866, and by the fact that a majority of the States in the Union at that time recognized that segregation in public facilities had not been abolished by this Amendment. There is no evidence in the Constitution, in the Amendments, or in any contemporary document that the States intended to give to the central government the right to invade the sanctity of the homes of America and deny to responsible parents a meaningful voice in the training of their children or in the selection of associates for them.

4. For almost sixty years, beginning in 1896, an unbroken line of decisions of the Court interpreted the Fourteenth Amendment as recognizing the right of the States to maintain racially separate public facilities for their people. If the Court in the interpretation of the Constitution is to depart from the sanctity of past decisions and to rely on the current political and social philosophy of its members to unsettle the great constitutional principles so clearly established, the rights of individuals are not secure and government under a written Constitution has no stability

5. Disregarding the plain language of the Fourteenth Amendment, ignoring the conclusive character of the contemporary actions of the Congress and of the State legislatures, overruling its own decisions to the contrary, the Supreme Court of the United States on May 17, 1954, relying on its own views of sociology and psychology, for the first time held that the Fourteenth Amendment prohibited the States enongy, for the first time heat that the from maintaining racially separate public schools and since then the Court has enlarged this to include other public facilities. In so doing the Court, under the guise of interpretation, amended the Constitution of the United States, thus usurping the power of Congress to submit, and that of the several States to approve, constitutional changes. This action of the Court ignored the principle that the meaning of the Constitution and if its Amendments does not change. It is a written instrument. That which the Fourteenth Amendment meant when adopted it means now (South Carolina v. United States, 199 U. S. 437, 449).

6. The educational opportunities of white and colored children in the public schools of South Carolina have been substantially improved during recent years and highly satisfactory results are being obtained in our segregated schools. If enforced, the decision of the Court will seriously impair and retard the education of the children of both races, will nullify these recent advances and will cause untold friction between the races.

7. Tragic as are the consequences of this decision to the education of the children of both races in the Southern States, the usurpation of constitutional power by the Court transcends the problems of segregation in education. The Court holds that regardless of the meaning of a constitutional provision when adopted, and in the language of the 1955 Report of the Gray Commission to the Governor of Virginia, firrespective of precedent, long acquiesced in, the Court can and will change its interpretation of the Constitution at its pleasure, disregarding the orderly processes for its Amendment set forth in Article V thereof. It means that the most fundamental of the Rights of the States or of their citizens exist by the Court's sufferance and that the law of the land is whatever the Court may determine it to be . . ." Thus the Supreme Court, created to preserve the Constitution, has planted the seed for the destruction of constitutional government.

8. Because the preservation of the rights of the States is as much within the design and care of the Constitution as the preservation of the national government, since "the Constitution in all of its provisions, looks to an indestructible Union, composed of indestructible States" (Texas v. White (1869), 7 Wallace 700, 72.5), and since the usurpation of the rights reserved to the States is by the indicial branch of the central government, the issues raised by this decision are of such grave import as to require this sovereign State to judge for itself of the infraction of the Constitution.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of South Carolina:

Section 1. That the States have never delegated to the central government the power to change the Constitution nor have they surrendered to the central government the power to prohibit to the States the right to maintain racially separate but equal public facilities or the right to determine when such facilities are in the best interest of their citizens.

Section 2. That the action of the Supreme Court of the United States consti tutes a deliberate, palpable, and dangerous attempt to change the true intent and meaning of the Constitution. It is in derogation of the power of Congress to propose, and that of the States to approve constitutional changes. It thereby establishes a judicial precedent, if allowed to stand, for the ultimate destruction of constitutional government.

Section 3. That the State of South Carolina condemns and protests against the illegal encroachment by the central government into the reserved powers of the States and the rights of the people and against the grave threat to the constitutional government implicit in the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States

Section 4. That the States and the Congress do take appropriate legal steps Section 4. That the States and the Congress do take appropriate legal steps to prevent, now and in the future, usurpation of power by the Supreme Court and other encroachment by the central government into the reserved powers of the States and the rights of the people to the end that our American system of Constitutional government may be preserved.

Section 5. In the meantime, the State of South Carolina as a loyal and sovereign State of the Union will exercise the powers reserved to it under the Constitution to judge for itself of the infractions and to take such other legal measures as it may deem appropriate to protect its covariants and the viehts of the propole judge for itself of the infractions and to take such other legal measures as it may deem appropriate to protect its sovereignty and the rights of its people.

Section 6. WHEREAS, There are plans for the acquisition of 879,360 acres of land in Saline Valley in the County of Inyo for all aerial gunnery range for use by the Marine Corps pilots at the Navy Air Base at Mojave, California, which acquisition will most seriously affect the County of Inyo which already has 96 percent of the area in the county not subject to county taxation by taking stell more lands off the tax rolls and by closing highways on which Inyo County has expended considerable rolls and by closing highways on which Inyo County has expended considerable public money; and rently exist; and Whereas, This resolution of the Senate Interim Committee on Public Lands was based on extensive public hearings during which considerable evidence was presented as to the disastrous effect of the withdrawal of lands of the Saline Valley; now, therefore, be it

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

By Senator Richards:

I requested and received permission to explain my vote on Assembly Bill No. 4 as amended, to make clear my position that it has been vitally important that this session of the Legislature achieve real progress in the establishment of a State Water Board so that we could then proceed to the settlement of the greater state-wide water problems confronting us.

Assembly Bill No. 4 was amended to the point of being a much less satisfactory bill than in its earlier forms. It is a bill which is not fair to the interests of the population centers of our State. However, I voted yes, because this was the only way of obtaining the possibility of appointment to the free conference committee and thus placing myself in a better position to recitfy the weaknesses of the bill and achieve ultimate legislation both more effective and more fair to the interests of the people of the entire State.

RICHARD RICHARDS

Senate Resolution No. 32

Relative to health and medical needs of recipients of old age security and aid to the blind

WHERAS, The California Social Welfare Board in May, 1955, adopted a new regulation, entitled A-207 "Evidence of Special Need," which concerns the determina-tion of special medical and health needs of certain recipients of old age security and aid to the blind who have outside income; and WHUREAS. There have been many complaints alleging that this regulation has caused considerable hardship and confusion among recipients of old age security and aid to the blind including allegations of protracted delays in the receipt of reimbursements for medical and health expenses for persons with outside income depending upon these welfare programs; and Whereaxs, The law relating to old age security and aid to the blind does not require these procedures for recipients of aid in need of medical and health allowances, but to the contrary, the purpose of the law, as stated in Section 19 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, is to provide for protection, care, and assistance to the people of the State in need thereof and it is the legislative intent that assistance shall be administered promptly and humanely and, as stated in Section 103.3, with due consideration for the needs of the applicants and the safeguarding of public funds; and

WHERLAS, It appears that delay in the normal payments for recipients of old age security and aid to the blind for reimbursed medical and health expenses beyond a current menth is contrary to the intent of existing law; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the State Social Welfare Board be hereby requested to give consideration to the modification of Regulation A-207, so as to prevent delays, confusion, and unnecessary inconvenience to recipients of old age security and aid to the blind who have outside income in receiving reimbursement for medical and health needs; and be it further

Resolved, That the Director of the State Department of Social Welfare is requested to report to the Senate during the 1957 Regular Session of the Legislature the effect of this regulation upon the recipients of old age security and aid to the blind and whether or not it has involved any increased costs in administration of these programs and what actions have been taken by the State Social Welfare Board relative to it; and be it further Resolved. That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Governor, each member of the State Social Welfare Board, and the Director of the State Department of Social Welfare.
